Section B
Subject: Social Science

- Answer from the following questions in a separate sheet and attach them to the worksheet.

1. Fill in the blanks.

A. In a _____ democracy, people elect representatives who make decisions on their behalf.
B. The Indian President is the head of the _____, while the Prime Minister is the head of the _____.
C. In a _____ form of government, there is division of powers between central and state governments.
D. _____ led the British forces during the Battle of Plassey.
E. _____ was the Governor-General who defeated Tipu Sultan with the help of the Marathas and the Nizam.
F. The Governor-General who aimed to end French influence in Indian courts was .
G. Conservation of natural resources and balancing their use for the future is called _____.
H. Buildings, bridges, and roads are examples of _____ resources.

2. In the questions given below, there are two statements marked as Assertion (A) and Reasoning (R). Read the statements and choose the appropriate option.

A. Assertion (A): India is a democratic republic.
Reason (R): In India, the President is elected and not hereditary.
a. Both A and R are true, and R is the correct explanation of A.
b. Both A and R are true, but R is not the correct explanation of A.
c. A is true, but R is false.
d. A is false, but R is true.

B. Assertion (A): In a unitary system, power is divided between the central and state governments.
Reason (R): In a unitary system, the central government is the highest authority and state governments derive power from it.
a. Both A and R are true, and R is the correct explanation of A.
b. Both A and R are true, but R is not the correct explanation of A.
c. A is true, but R is false.
d. A is false, but R is true.

C. Assertion (A): A dictatorship is an example of a non-democratic government.
Reason (R): In a dictatorship, rulers are elected through regular free and fair elections.
a. Both A and R are true, and R is the correct explanation of A.
b. Both A and R are true, but R is not the correct explanation of A.
c. A is true, but R is false.
d. A is false, but R is true.

D. Assertion (A): The British were able to establish their supremacy in many parts of India through the Subsidiary Alliance.
Reason (R): Indian rulers entered into Subsidiary Alliances with the British, often due to political and military pressure.
a. Both A and R are true, and R is the correct explanation of A.
b. Both A and R are true, but R is not the correct explanation of A.
c. A is true, but R is false.
d. A is false, but R is true.

E. Assertion (A): The British annexed several Indian territories under the Doctrine of Lapse.
Reason (R): Under this policy, a kingdom would be annexed if the ruler died without a female heir.
a. Both A and R are true, and R is the correct explanation of A.
b. Both A and R are true, but R is not the correct explanation of A.
c. A is true, but R is false.
d. A is false, but R is true.

F. Assertion (A): Non-renewable resources take thousands of years to form.
Reason (R): They can be replenished quickly by natural processes.
a. Both A and R are true, and R is the correct explanation of A.
b. Both A and R are true, but R is not the correct explanation of A.
c. A is true, but R is false.
d. A is false, but R is true.

G. Assertion (A): Water is a renewable resource.
Reason (R): Water can be replenished by nature through the water cycle.
a. Both A and R are true, and R is the correct explanation of A.
b. Both A and R are true, but R is not the correct explanation of A.
c. A is true, but R is false.
d. A is false, but R is true.

3. Answer the following questions.

A. Riya is 19 years old and wants to vote in the elections. Which democratic principle allows her to do so?
B. If a government does not hold regular elections, can it still be called democratic? Justify your answer.
C. Compare and contrast the responses of different Indian rulers like Tipu Sultan and the Nawab of Awadh to British expansion. What does this tell us about their leadership styles and political strategies?
D. Suppose you are a journalist in 1850 writing an article titled ‘India Under British Expansion’. Based on what you’ve learned, what key events and policies would you include in your article, and why?
E. What are the main criteria for something to be classified as a resource?

F. Give two ways in which you as a student can contribute to the conservation of resources.

4. Case Study-Based Question:

A. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow:

In a small town, people used to believe that water was an unlimited resource. Over time, due to excessive and careless use, the water levels started to fall drastically. Crops began to fail, and people had to walk long distances to get clean drinking water. Realizing the crisis, the community came together to spread awareness about the importance of conserving water. They started rainwater harvesting, avoided water wastage, and educated the younger generation about using resources wisely.

Based on the above situation and the given passage, answer the following questions:

a. What was the main reason behind the water crisis in the town?
b. How did the community respond to the water shortage problem?
c. Why is conservation of resources important for future generations?
d. What do you understand by "sustainable development" from the passage?
e. Mention any two principles of sustainable development discussed in the passage.

B. Read the case below and answer the questions that follow:

In the mid-18th century, the British East India Company gradually expanded its political influence in India. The Battle of Plassey (1757) marked their first major military success when Robert Clive defeated Sirajuddaulah, enabling the Company to gain control over Bengal. A few years later, the Battle of Buxar (1764) proved to be a turning point, as the combined forces of Mir Qasim, the Nawab of Awadh, and the Mughal Emperor Shah Alam II were defeated by the Company's smaller but better-organized army. This led to the Treaty of Allahabad, giving the British the Diwani rights (revenue collection) over Bengal, Bihar, and Odisha.

Meanwhile, in the south, the kingdom of Mysore, under Hyder Ali and later his son Tipu Sultan, challenged British expansion. Mysore's control of the spice trade, its strong army, and its alliance with the French worried the British. Over four wars, the British fought Mysore, finally defeating and killing Tipu in the Battle of Seringapatam (1799), under Governor-General Wellesley.

a. Arrange the following events in the correct chronological order.
   i. Death of Tipu Sultan
   ii. Battle of Plassey
   iii. Treaty of Allahabad
   iv. Second Anglo-Mysore War
b. Do you think Tipu Sultan's decision to restrict British trade was justified from his perspective? Give one reason.
c. What lessons can modern Indian leaders learn from the unity (or lack of it) among Indian rulers during British expansion?